Provide Feedback on Pollinator Habitat in Alberta

The Miistakis Institute is conducting a survey to understand the breadth of pollinator projects in Alberta

The Miistakis Institute is conducting research on how roadside ditches and other marginal lands can be used as pollinator habitat in Alberta. The research includes a review of best management practices. It also includes interviews with municipal and environmental non-government organizations that have previously or are currently running pollinator projects and programs specific to marginal land habitat creation.

The Miistakis Institute has created a survey for municipalities to provide input on the breadth of the pollinator projects and programs occurring in Alberta.

The survey deadline is April 9, 2021.
