RMA Launches Resources for Provincial Police Transition Web Hub

The RMA web hub will host information related to the current work being undertaken to study a potential transition to a provincial police service

RMA has launched RMA Resources for Provincial Police Transition, a web hub that will be used to share information with members about the potential transition to a provincial police service. The page currently hosts both the primer document and engagement guide to help members understand the information presented in the transition study reports.

RMA will update this page with more information and resources as required to keep members informed on the issues related to a potential transition to a provincial police service.
